CH charges, is reported already to have been a secret inquiry to determine the truth of the allegation printed here this afternoon that M. Leydett, the examining magistrate, entertained relations with Mme. Steinhell, which induced him to stiffe the affair. The insinuations behind this charge, which involves the life history of Mme. Steinhell, have been on everybody's lips for months and explain the immense popular curiosity with regard to the crime.

Political opponents of the government, like Henry Rochefort, have been trying to make political capital of the affair by seeking to force an exposure of the scandal connected with the mysterious death of Felix Faure, President of the republic, in 1858. Although hushed up at the time it was common knowledge among those behind the scenes that Mme. Steinhell was with M. Faure at the Elysee Palace when he died. Some of the Parisian afternoon papers do not hesistate to print, what they term, the story of the liason.

She is now 60.

McCleish takes a delight in the fact that he has never kissed a woman. McCleish, when talking of matrimony, said there were two times in a man's life when he will marry—when he is too young to know better and when he is old enough to have better sense. He has made six trips to see his boyhood sweetheart. He never had but one companion, Russel Dewey of Mt. Vernon, and the friendship between these two old men is on the Damon and Pythias order. McCleish has lived the typical bachelor life, and since he was a boy has lived alone and done all his own housework.

Finally Gov. Higgins said that he had to talk over the telephone and what he said when he talked to his wife is not known. However, the three Governors and Mrs. Higgins sat down to a little dianer after the speechmaking was over, at the hotel and they all laughed—or at least Gov. Swanson and Gov. Stuart laughed—when Mrs. Higgins admitted that they had been married but eight days and that they had tried to keep it a secret.

Since their arrival on Sunday, the members of the party have remained almost secluded in their apartments at the Fairmont and St. Francis hotels, in observance of the period of mourning for China's late rulers, and their departure was attended by no ceremony except the attendance at the dept of prominent members of San Francisco's Chinese colony.

The party will go directly to Washington. It is understood that arrangements for the expression of gratitude to President Roosevelt have already been made by Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese Minister.

It is quite significant, the number of persons who get well of alarming heart trouble when they let up on coffee and use Postum as the beverage at meals.

There is nothing surprising about it, however, because the harmful alkaloid in coffee—caffeine—is not present in Postum, which is made of clean.

PORTLAND. Nov. 26.—[Exclusive hats," says a big placard hung in the new auditorium of the First Baptist Church at North Yakima, Wash. The sign hangs conspicuously in the front of the auditorium, which will or thrown open for use within a few days. All women whose heads are adorned with millinery are expected to heed the injunction and carefully remove their headgear upon entering. Rev. Whitney, pastor of the church, has inaugurated a campaign against a gorgeous display of feathers and plumes in his congregation but just what reception the ladies of his flock will give the notice admonishing them not to wear hats in church remains to be seen when the new auditorium is used and the women gain their first sight of the placard.

Senator Fulton Represents the State. .

Republicans Anxious to Elect Senator.

Popular Vote Recommended Democrat.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Senator Fulton's mession to Hot Springs was to ask President-elect Taft to take a hand in the Oregon Senatorial situation.

Leading Republicans in Oregon are very strongly against the election of a Democrat to the Senate, regardless of the fact that in the recent primaries Gov. Chamberiain defeated the Republican candidate. It is argued that under such a primary law a declaration in favor of Gov. Chamberiain night at some time result in changing the complexion of the Senate.

Strong pressure, therefore, is being brought upon the Legislature to name a Republican.

If Mr. Taft and Mr. Hitchcock took the position that a Republican should be chosen, it is eaid this would go a long way toward accomplishing that result.

member of the Taft family was with the President-elect today.

Mr. Taft began his Thankegiving as the guest at breakfast of M. E. Ingalis. whose dinner guest he is also to be. They attended morning services at the Episcopal Church, and then indulged in a game of golf.

Political conferences were held this afternoon with National Chairman Hitchcock, Representative Herbert Parsons of New York and Senator Pulton of Oregon.

The Oregon Benetor says he believes the country is fully in sympathy with the determination of the Presidenticlect to see to it that the proposed tariff revision will be thorough and in good faith. He, however, believes this result will be obtained without friction in the party.

TOKIO, Nov. 26.—Pergistent rumors declaring that negotiations are now in progress at Washington between Japanese Ambassador Takahira and Secretary of State Root, looking to the interchange of diplomatic notes definitely outlining the policies of both countries in regard to the Pacific and China, have opportunity of finding credence among the newspapers here, whose sources of information are generally excellent. One man, who may be considered an authority on official matters, declared today that he had reason to believe that such motes had already actually been exchanged at Washington, but inquiries at the Foreign Office, while failing to elicit a flat denial of the report, cannot be said to have hrought out a direct confirmation.

The officials of the American Embassy are also preserving a discreet silence, and no information could be gained there.

These rumors are being wilely discussed about Tokio, and it may be said that the consensus of opinion tends to ward a full belief that the report of the pending exchange of notes is well founded.

An ex-member of the Cabinet and man who held a high position under the former ministry, suit today:

Mr. Homer Krohn, of Lisbon, Iows, in a letter to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy praises this medicine for what it has done for his children. He says: "It has not only saved them once but many a time. Only two weeks ago my boy had the croup so bad in the night that had it not been for having a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house he would have choked before a doctor could have gotten to the house. It is a medicine that no one should be without at any time." It is pleasant to take and many children like it. FOREIGNERS RACE.

The race soon developed into a fight between February 30, 1907, and July 5 of the same year. The defendants showed that on February 25 of that year the music hall was consumed by fire, together with all its contents, including the gas meter. While gas meters have hitherto not infrequently been suspected of fraudulent practices, this is the first instance, so far as we are informed, where one has been caught "with the goods." If a meeter that has been destroyed by fire can keep right on turning in large round figures for four months therefore, what chance has the average of all its faculties?—[Exchange.]

RACES DRAW

Over against the green hills that shut out the snow and the cold north winds from the wide-spreading fertile san Gabriel Valley, lies the charming spot that was picked out by the Los Angeles Racing Association for the Arcadia track and when the gates of this institution were thrown open yesterday to usher in the present winter racing season, over 15,000 sports spocked there to see the short-tailed nags gallop around the track. It was a wonderful outpouring of promiscuous humanity and those who took this means of celebrating the national foliday, must have returned home satisfied at least with an afternoon under blue and balmy sokies, and with a view of beautiful mountains, ever fair and lovely in their majesty.

It was a wonderful day in various ways. Such thousands as were there? The big grand stand that is said to seat 6000 was packed with josting men and eager women and the overflow surged into the alsies and massed on the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the stairways and slopped over the backs of chairs, while down under the st

The track was heavy from the rain of the night before and the time made was naturally slow, but it was fair for a track that has not been raced on for a year. All through the stretch or final quarter mile there was a dry path in the middle and mud at the sides, and the horse that first reached this dry path at the last turn generally won, for he had the best footing. Around on the far side of the track the going was better and two more dry days will put the course in fine shape.

GREAT CROWD.

A field of pline faced the starter in this event. Of the original eleven carded starters, four were scratched on account of the heavy track, and Magasine and Adriuche were added before post time. Restigouche was always the best liked, but a strong tip out on Lee Rose drew a big play from those that follow such late. selections. The race was really over before it began. Magasine jumped out in the lead, closely followed by Restigouche, who assumes the lead at the quarter, galioped along in front without effort.

The got away for a 75-yard run, which was spoiled by one of his team-mates holding a tackier. Later he secred a touchdown after a 45-yard run following a ruse at a forward pass.

The reliable Capt. Hollenbeck was given much work to do, but he at times appeared tired and did not play up to his standard, while Scarlett and Braddock were all over the field preaking up the opposition's interference.

Capt. Walder played his usual fine game for Cornell, and O'Rourke was a tower of strength in the line for ithaca. In the first half Walder clearly outpunted Hollenbeck, but in the second period, with the wind at his back, the Pennsylvania captain's kicking was wonderful.

CORNELL'S FIELD GOAL.

Exhibit for Men Only. According to the Oklahoman, a lady reporter of the Tulsa World was recently shocked because a street carnival had an attraction which was placarded, "For Men Only." The men were going in and out in large numbers, and she said sone caustic things about it in the paper. It developed that the attraction consisted of a clothes line on which were lung a pair of pants, coat, vest, and socks. When one sucker was caught he very naturally steered all of his friends into its trap.—[Kansas City Journal.]

Fifteen hundred hungry men and boys were given a full meal at the Union Rescue Mission on North Main street yesterday. Dinner was served from II until 6 o'clock, and as fast as one relay of guests was fed, the tables were cleared for the next squad. None was turned away. Old men and even typical "bums" were served, and one frail-looking woman was given her dinner apart from the rest, because of her evident nervousness.

enthusiasm of the guests, and bore with remarkable patience the noise and confusion incident to feeding such an unruly lot.

"Say, mister, I've been here for two hours, an hain't dilled up yet," said a little newsboy to Superintendent George W. Trotter. "Somehow the big boys crowd past me, an' mother taught me ter be perlite."

This boy was given a seat at the next "round," and he ate enough to make up for his long walt.

Sherman Indians, 4; St. Vincent's, 0.
After the Sherman Indians and St. Vincent's had struggled up and down the field for fifty minutes without either eleven being able to get an advantage. Bullock, the little Indian quarterback, kicked a field goal from the 20-yard line and won the State football championship from St. Vincent's at Plesta Park, yesterday afternoon. Neither team was able to cross on. Neither team was able to cross opponent's goal line.

line threw back the assaults of the Redskins, and when on the defensive. Sherman administered the same treatment to the home team.

Between the tackle positions, the players, man for man, were evenly matched, but the greater speed in the Indian backfield, supplemented by the spectacular work of Bullock, the brilliant quarterback, gave the Redskins a shade over the Saints in general efficiency. However, the teams were more evenly matched than any other contesting teams of the season, and Bullock's fortunate kick, after three unsuccessful attempts, gave the Indians the victory in a match that otherwise undoubtedly would have ended with honors even.

D BETTER BETTOR.

No one could complain of lack of food. Several hundred pounds of beef, donated by butchers, helred out the supply of turkey, ham and other edibles. There were 200 "home" ples that made the eyes of the boys glisten, and there was enough "mulligan" soup to float a battleship.

It was amusing to see the way that the wise little "kids" passed by the nourishing soup to wait for the turkey and ham sandwiches. ther the ghost is a road.

Whether the ghost is a modern psychical research apparition, or an old-hathloned orthodox "hant," has not been determined, but on quiet nights, say the colored folk, it can be beard tramping heavily up and down the narrow winding flight of pitch dark stairs that eads from the third story to the unused attics under the south side of the Courthouse roof. For hours at a time, it is said, it will walk intermittently, reading sometimes with the firm bold-

Finally he secured the keys to the staircase and made an inspection of the place. As he went up the dust-covered flight, he heard what he took to be steps slowly retreating before him.

covered flight, he heard what he took to be steps slowly retreating before him.

He went into the attic and looked about in the dust-covered rubbish for the print of human footsteps, but could see nothing. Almost as soon as he had closed and locked the staircase door again, the footsteps began their uneasy tramp, and kept it up for a long time before they finally ceased.

"I thought it might be an old hoot owl," he said. "Three owls have been caught by me about the Courtnouse, where they come in search of the pigeons. I didn't know but that some veteran bird was prowling around the stairs for mice, but I never heard a hoot owl with a stride like that would be a good deal of a curiosity, and I'd like to catch him. I could see no signs of a man in the attic. I don't know what to make of it."

SPOOKSHIP DERIDED.

"A ghost? Humph," said Courthouse Janitor John Davis. "Some people say they hear sounds on that flight of stairs, but I've been up in that attic and if there are any ghosts up there, I haven't seen them, I looked around to see if anybody was up there, but I didn't find anybody. Yes, the men don't care to use that closet under the stairs or open the door to it, but there's no occasion for their doing so, ahyway."

THE STRENGTHENING OF BELIEF.

THE STRENGTHENING OF BELIEF.

Even the careless observer of men and the ways of men must be impressed with the present steady trend of the world toward the simple faith in God which characterized the early Christians, the Jews and those who were before the Jews. It is by no means a wild prophecy to say that in another decade the whole civilized world, and particularly the Christian world, will witness a religious renaissance unequaled since the days of the Crusades.

The world moves in cycles that come and pass and return again. This is not the first time in the history of the world that men have been money-mad. The golden calf has had other worshipers than we who have bowed before it for these many years. The world has had many idols, indeed, but it has never been wholly without some kind of religion. Men have turned away from the quest of worldly wealth to prostrate themselves at God's feet often in the past, as they will again, and that before long.

Whether or not religion will retain its hold permanently is another query, and one that time alone can answer. But we are justified in the belief, as well as the hope, that religion is constantly gaining ground, and that while it has never been able to hold all the ground it secures, it never loses it all. For instance, the religion of Christ has increased its following ever since the first day it was established on this earth, and their numbers were never so great as they are at this hour.

It is also to be expected that with the gain of belief there will also come genuine reforms. There will be unity. The denominations will cease their quarrels, and, above all things, there will be a return to simplicity in the lives of men, and especially in the lives of the clargy. There will be no minister of God who will live a life of luxury in the days to come, but instead they will consecrate themselves to poverty and chastity as an example, as did Francis of Assisi and others since his time.

With the gain of belief, what is now called superstition will be called faith

THE FLEET SHOULD STAY.

There is abundant reason for the action being taken with the object of keeping the battleship fleet in the Pacific Ocean. What we ought to have is two such fleets, one for each coast. For these Congress should provide with all possible dispatch.

With only one fleet adequate to guard one coast, the question is, where will it be most effective, and where is it most likely to be needed?

There seems no room for prolonged discussion upon the point. If we concede that there is no choice on the ground of probable need, then the fleet would better be left in the Pacific. England is the would better be left in the Pacinc. England is the one nation of Europe with which we have any chance of the most remote nature of getting into trouble. As against her fleet ours would not be adequate protection to our Atlantic Coast. In the Pacific the sixteen battleships would be ample protection to our western coast in any conceivable case of trouble.

But the real point of view is that of likely need.
A war between us and any people in Europe is nardly conceivable. Our relations are of the most

A war between us and any people in Europe is hardly conceivable. Our relations are of the most friendly kind in that quarter, where no eye can now discern any point of friction. The aim of all Europe is peace within the borders of that continent, and within America. Civilization has progressed to a point in these two continents where the horrors of war are clearly recognized, where the blessings of peace are eagerly longed for by all people. The ties that bind the nations of Europe to one another are by no means so strong as those that bind them all to us. There is not a nation in Europe that is not anxious to cultivate peace with the United States.

We do not believe there is any immediate chance of war between this country and any other on the globe. But, as we have pointed out many times, the spot where friction is most likely is where we touch Japan. The peoples belong to different races. It is not possible to contemplate with complacency any intermixture of our people with those of Japan. Not only is intermarriage between the two races sure to be resented, but the admission of the Japanese to citizenship will be fought if ever proposed. We shall contract, not enlarge, the door by which aliens shall be admitted to citizenship. If nationality is likely to weigh in this problem, then race will weigh ten times more.

Among those who are attempting to impress these

Among those who are attempting to impress these views on the President, Congressman Hobson of Georgia is one of the most active. Mr. Hobson aded a letter to the President under date of No vember 21, last, from which we take these pregnant passages:

"It is not discounting other problems to say that the greatest problems of mankind at this time are those grouped around the Pacific Ocean, where the great races and civilizations of the white man and the yellow man are now meeting, nor is it depreciating the role of other nations to say that the principal part in meeting and solving these problems must fall to America. Some of the gravest of these problems are now clamoring for solution: whether the two races are to live together or are to remain each in its own habitat; whether they are to possess the Pacific Ocean jointly, or whether one or the other is to gain supremacy; whether their meeting is to be confined to commerce, or is to extend to war; whether China is to remain peaceful and industrial, a neutral market with an open door, or is to be dominated by Japan and become military."

"In Asia . . there is no balance of power, not a nation of Europe or of America having there permanently a single battleship. Japan stands alone unchecked, supreme in power, her fleet holding absolute control of the sea, with an organized army, equipped and ready, of 1,500,000 trained soldiers, and with a merchant marine of over 1,000,000 tons for transports and auxiliary service.

"The uniform experience of mankind shows that constant danger to the world's peace lurks behind tons for transports and auxiliary service.

"The uniform experience of mankind shows that constant danger to the world's peace lurks behind such an unbalanced condition of power, even with nations the most advanced in social evolution. How could the world reasonably expect a continued peace in the Pacific if the unchecked power is left in the hands of a nation just emerged from feudalism, from 800 years of the 'dark ages' of feudal strife that have left the people permeated with military chivalry and the exaltation of the profession of arms."

"The supreme duty, however, involved in keeping our fleet in the Pacific is the duty we owe to ourselves in the defense and security of our own territory, which now girdles this ocean, with the Aleutian Islands, Alaska, the west coast of our mainland, Samoa, Guam, the Philippines, and holds its pivot with the Hawaiian Islands. This territory contains the great harbors whose permanent control will determine the question of supremacy in the Pacific. Americans know that with American control this territory would simply insure the Pacific Ocean and the markets of China on equal terms to all nations, and lay a basis for joint control of this ocean, in peace, between the white race and the yellow race."

low race."

"The conditions pointed out above, the Japanese supremacy in the Pacific and the absence of the American fleet, had not existed twelve months before Japan began to take notice of and to exagerate every trifing incident affecting Japanese subjects on the Pacific Coast, straining at a gnat in San Francisco while swallowing a camel at Vancouver.

there had been thirteen cases in our previous history where foreign subjects suffered violence within individual States, in eleven of which cases, including a case of the Japanese themselves, the foreign subjects were lynched by lawless mobs.

"As pointed out above, our Presidents heretofore have invariably refused to interfere in local matters, even when foreign subjects were being assassinated, but in this case, Mr. President, you did interfere where foreign subjects were not being harmed, not even being threatened with harm, but, on the contrary, were being given a free education, equal in every respect to the education provided for American children, only under regulations desired in San Francisco, and not under regulations desired in Tokio. You interfered and called on the local authorities to recede from their decision, thereby surrendering the right of local self-government, the right for which Angio-Saxons have died for a thousand years.

right for which Anglo-Saxons have died for a thousand years.

"Only the gravest situation and the knowledge of our overwhelming disadvantage could have caused you to interfere thus. As a matter of fact, you represented, and Secretary Metcalf, sent by you, sepresented to the School Board of San Francisco that there was imminent danger of war, and that the lack of the Panama Canal, with the fleet in the Atlantic, made it necessary to recede. If you were justified then in calling on the people of San Francisco to surrender, you are not justified now in withdrawing the fleet and again placing them and their neighbors on the whole Coast in precisely the same defenseless position."

GOOD WORK WELL DONE FOR CAL-IFORNIA.

We have before us in pamphlet form the showing made before the House Committee on Ways and Means by the committee sent to Washington by the Citrus Protective League of California. The work undertaken by the committee was to show why citrus fruit growers in this State need protection through the tariff in order that their important industry may survive in competition with foreign growers.
There are only ten small pages in the pamphlet, but the ground is covered in a masterly manner.

As to oranges and grape fruit, all California asks

As to oranges and grape fruit, all California asks is that the duty now in force be not disturbed. One cent per pound is found to be fairly effective in giving the ousiness a chance, so far as oranges go. It is not enough on grape fruit, but this business is not of sufficient importance yet to suggest to the committee that any change should be made.

The lemon industry is not sufficiently protected by the present duty, which is the same on all citrus fruit. The committee asks that in revising the tariff the duty on lemons be increased 50 per cent.,

The exh Committee should be made widely public. The fact that many orange groves in California are owned by persons of great wealth, who buy them, not on a mercial, but on an esthetic, basis, has creat delusion as to the profits accruing from growing oranges. A grove in a sightly position, with fine improvements, and near a city, often sells for $2000 per aere. It is bought by some person of great wealth for a home, and no thought is given to its ability to produce full revenue on the price. No doubt the fact that it will pay 2 to 2½ per cent. net profit on the price counts for something.

The exhibits laid before the Congressional committee show that the cost of bringing an orange grove into bearing is about $1000 per acre, that this is the price at which the property usually sells, and that, taking a series of the best years, the net profit on all the bearing acreage in the State is not more than 4 1-3 per cent. on that figure. When the fact is considered that the owner of a grove devotes all his time to the care of the trees, this profit must seem quite reasonable.

Under the present protective tariff and with this modest profit secured, the business of growing orange trees has made satisfactory progress in the State during the past ten years. The acreage has increased from 30,193 in 1898 to 104,073 acres in 1908. In the decade the crop has grown from 5,371, 000 to 10,486,000 boxes.

To those who remember the condition of the industry ten years ago, when groves were being dug up, this showing is a great justification of the Ding-

The benefits do not all go to the owners of these lands. The business gives employment to 15,000 persons at good wages, and affords a living for 75,000 persons in the most delightful climate on the earth Nor is this all. The millions who live in the United States are getting oranges of a better quality at a lower price than when almost all the supply came from abroad. The result is that the consumption of oranges has increased 300 per cent. in the ten years. It is important to realize that this means an ample supply of the finest fruit that grows at moderate cost to all, the poor and the rich alike.

It is different with lemons. The cost of an acre of lemon trees is about the same as one of orange trees. So it is with the cost of production, packing, freight and marketing. But the yield per acre is not so great and the fruit has to be cured. Inquiry shows that to put a box of oranges in the cars in California ready for shipment costs about $1.05, whereas a box of lemons in the same position costs an average of $1.48. Laid down in eastern markets, an average of $1.48. Laid down in eastern markets, the net cost of the box of oranges is $1.98. The cost of the box of lemons in the market is $2.32. But foreign oranges are delivered in New York at a net cost of $1.62, and a box of lemons at $1.84. In case of both kinds of fait this includes the duty. In no case, here or abroad, is any account taken of the interest to be made on the investment. The cost of an acre of bearing citrus trees in Europe or America is about the same. But the European is usually satisfied with smaller profit. Lemon growers in Sicily make a profit of about $15 per acre.

An analysis of the figures above shows that the Italian orange grower, even with the present duty paid, has an advantage of his competitor in California of 36 cents per box, while the Sicily lemon grower has an advantage of 48 cents. The 12 cents per box, with the smaller crop of lemons as compared with oranges, makes all the difference between success and failure. The difference would be about $50 per acre. Should we cut that off the 41-3 per cent. made by the orange growers and reduce the net remueration for money and time invested to below 3 per cent., fair success would turn to discouraging failure. Figures on the lemon Industry for ten years above exactly this result. Although the Dingley tariff gives the lemon growers a protection of 1 cent per pound, the acreage of non-bearing or new lemon growes has decreased from 11,054 acres in 1898 to 2704 acres in 1908. In practically the same time the percentage of home-grown lemons in the United States has decreased 4 per cent.

We are importing 2,000,000 boxes of lemons a cent.

We are importing 2,000,000 boxes of lemons a year. If these were produced in California, the added acreage would give employment to 5000 persons, and support 5000 families. We know the gain to all engaged in business coming from the 15,000 persons employed in lemon groves, the advantage to all business obviously would be great. In the two industries, properly developed, there would be a good living in this beautiful climate for over 100,000 persons. It is these wage-earners who reap the greatest benefit from the protective tariff. The work is done in Italy by children at 10 cents a day, by women at 20 cents, and by men at from 40 to 60 cents. The daily wages paid in California range from $1.75 to women to $2.25 to men. The Italian day is from sun-up to sun-down; the California day is nine hours long.

No other land on earth looks so delightful as our did on this Thanksgiving Day. Taft's popular plurality over Bryan will approximate 1,200,444 votes, which is 50 per cent. greater than McKinley's over Bryan in 1900, making this the severest of Bryan's three defeats. Bedding For Babies' Beds

We devote just as much care to the selection of fine bedding for babies' cribs and bassinettes, as we do to the requirements of grown-ups. For example:

First, we make the mattress to fit the bassinette, of soft, clean floss, covered with mercerized French asteen, in colors to suit; then we make little pillows, filling them with floss or down, and covering them with goods to match. Next comes the white quilted pad to pretect the mattress; then tiny sheets and pillow cases, and dainty little lambs' wool biankets, of first size; light biue or pink borders, or with "Baby" woven in the border; novelty baby biankets, too, in Teddy Sear, Santa Claus, Mother Goose and other patterns; then finally the little slik comforts filled with softest lambs' wool, and Marseilles satin or erocheted spreads, to go over all.

For children's beds and cribs we have the next larger sizes in everything, from 2 ft. 6 in. by 4 ft. size up. And in this popular size rib we can provide you with the Ostermoor crib mattress. Can you think of a nicer gift for a child?

(Bedding Section-First Floor.)

A Sale of Wool Yarns

Could anything be more opportune than a sale of just these yarns, when so many people are knitting shawls, fascinators, bedroom and crocheted fancy slippers, bootees and like articles for gifts. Frankly, we are overstocked with yarns, and take this means of reducing lines:

Included will be Saxony, Shetland wool, Fairy Floss and Spanish Knitting yarns, in ALL COLORS; no black nor white; at the following prices:

Shetland wool, regularly 20c a skein, for .....10c Spanish Knitting Wool, regularly 20c skein, for 10c Fairy Floss, regularly 20c a skein, for ......10c These yarns are on display in a Broadway win-dow, from which you may get an idea of the wide assortment of shades.

News of New Skirts

Fabrics are the newest and smartest men's wear-just the mixtures that would catch your eye at the Dress Goods counters: then the lustrous broadcloths, fine voiles and panamas and shimmering satins, all in the new flare-gore styles, and modified Directoire lines.

Voiles, with or without silk petticeats, $12.50 to $35.00.

Satins, from $20 to $25.

Knabenshue and Duesier mounted the thin spruce frame work. After proportioning the ballast they gave the word to cast off. With a whirl of wheels and chugchug of the engine, the bailoon shot directly into the eye of the wind, blowing from the ocean. The fences and srandstand were easily topped, and for half a mile, always ascending, the bailoon continued toward the coast. Slowly it turned to the south, and with nother turn of the big rudder to the east. The eastern tack was changed a triffe to the north and the dirigible floated past the park and toward the city. ages with well-rounded arms and neck, full, normal bust of exquisite curve and proportion, and shapely figure so much admired in our great actresses and society leaders, and so attractive to the other sex always.

Obtain the ingredients separately at any good drug store, and mix carefully at home. Get two ounces of glycerine, three ounces of rosewater, one ounce tincture cadomene compound and five cents' worth of borax. Mix the glycerine with tincture cadomene and let stand two hours; then add rosewater and a teaspoonful of borax. Apply morning and night, rubbing it in thoroughly. Then wash with hot water and soap, and dry. It is related that one woman developed a figure that won for her a very, very wealthy husband.

FOOTBALL ROOTER DIES OF CHEERING.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
AURORA (Ill.) Nov. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] During an exciting football game between rival high-school teams of Aurora this afternoon, John White, superintendent of school buildings, dropped dead as he was cheering his favorite players. He was 55 years old. His daughter, who was in the grand stand where her father died, did not know of his death until the crowds were leaving the field.

In the noise and confusion the body was removed without attracting the attention of those nearest, and the game proceeded to the end.

HUNTINGTON THE BUYER.

The Doyle Springs property, in the foothills on Tule River, has been purchased by the Huntington inetrests for the sum of $50,000. The location of the dam for the prospective Tule River power plant is on this porperty, and the sale is understood to mean that the work on the plant will be rushed to completion. Considerable has already been done. Some years ago the Doyle Springs property was purchased by Los Angeles people for $1500.

John F. Irish of San Francisco will open the Tulare County Citrus Fair, which will be held this year at Excerduring the first six days of December. This is the third annual fair, the two previous ones having been held at Porterville and Lindsay. Preparations have been under way for several weeks to make the fair this year better than ever before. A decorator from Los Angeles has been superintending the installation of the many exhibits.

Storm Fatal to Tie Walker at San Diego.

Welcome indeed was the Thanksgiving Eve rainstorm, which added 1.03 inches to the season's record for Los Angeles, making the total so far since September 1 exactly 2.62 inches. This is ever twice as much as fell last season to the corresponding date, and .62 above normal. The earlier forecasts yesterday intimated that the rain, which held off while the holiday was being celebrated, would probably resume its good work. Later, however, the Weather Bureau at San Francisco fasued an amended prognostication, thus:

wind, light to heavy frosts back from the coast."

Southern California was the only part of the State favored with the Thanksgiving Eve showers. The less lucky portions got colder weather without the precipitation. Paalma of praise come from every place that felt the wet embrace. Long Beach reports 1.55 inches for the nine hours during which rain fell, and 4.55 for the season. Santa Monica was content to 541.135 inches, which doubled its seasonal total. Santa Ana gladly received f7 of an inch, making 2.56 to date. There, as at Elsinore, plowing is under way, and will be followed by seeding. Ventura rejoices in 1.50 inches of rain, while Santa Pauls received 2.15, and the mountains north of the town are covered with a heavy mantle of smow. The following reports from Times correspondents tell the tale of joy:

HEAVIEST IN YEARS.

STORM DRAIN EFFECTIVE. ETORM DRAIN EFFECTIVE.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 26.—Without warning storm clouds gathered last light at 8 o'clock and a heavy rain at in which continued until daylight. The rain gauge this morning showed to inches for the main showed to the season of 4.59 inches as against 13 inches the same time last year. The big Atlantic storm drain, comdeted last spring, was given its first ever test, and was fully equal to the emand. It successfully took care of the stormwater.
